

TOOLBOX TALK, October 21st, 2024.

Safety Slogan Contest:

We're looking for a new safety slogan for 2025. You can submit your ideas by using the suggestion box link on fsstools.com, and when you do, we'll present them to the Safety Committee to choose a winner. The winner will receive a $50 gift card for a great idea.

Innovation rewards:

Innovation is worth a reward and can earn you a $25 gift card and a chance to win a $250 prize. Your innovation could change how efficient and safe we are.

Choice and Complacency:

Choice - is the right, power, and opportunity to choose between two or more options.

We make choices every day, but how can we make better choices?

Complacency - is self-satisfaction, accompanied by lack of awareness of actual dangers or deficiencies.

If we become complacent, we've stopped paying attention, which increases the risk of injury and property damage on our job sites.

To help make better choices and avoid complacency we should ask ourselves questions like these before each shift, and each task, every day:

- | | |
|------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| -What could go wrong? | -Are my co-workers at risk? |
| -How can I prevent injuries? | -What safety controls are in place? |
| -Is there a safer way to do this? | -Do I understand how to do this task? |
| -Am I using the right tools & PPE? | -Am I set up for success? |

What other questions could help you make better choices?

How do we best recognize dangers or deficiencies?
